

Joann Needleman, Leader of the firm's Consumer Financial Services Regulatory & Compliance Practice Group, serves as a navigator to her clients seeking advice and guidance in the complex regulatory environment facing the financial services industry. She provides counsel, consultation, and litigation services to a wide array of financial institutions, law firms, credit reporting agencies, as well as venture capital firms looking to invest in the fin-tech space. A former member of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau's (CFPB) Consumer Advisory Board.

Joann is the host of the podcast "Credit Ecosystem to Go: Curbside Thought Leadership for Financial Services." She is frequently quoted in American Banker and the Wall Street Journal for her insight of the CFPB. Joann is the immediate past President of the Board of Directors of the National Creditors Bar Association (NCBA).